

MCUE GOT REVENGE.

Fractured Saloon-keeper Kane's Skull with a Paving-Stone.

Had a Grudge for Being Kept Out of the Liquor Store.

Now He Must Have to Answer a Charge of Murder.

John Kane, twenty-three years old, a saloon-keeper, living at 831 Seventh avenue, was struck on the head last night with a paving-stone, hurled by John McCue, twenty-two years old, of 16 West Fifty-first street. Kane's skull is fractured, and his doctors at Roosevelt Hospital think he will die, as the result of his injuries. McCue is under arrest. The assault took place in Kane's saloon, at 16 West Fifty-first street.

McCue is a member of a gang of roughs called "The Talent," who make their headquarters in West Fifty-first street, and who are accused of many robberies and petty crimes.

McCue has been a leading spirit of "The Talent." The police say he is a leader of the gang, but he is not a member of it. He is a hardworking, law-abiding man, except at odd jobs. His father, an honest, hardworking laborer, has been forced to put him out of the house many times.

McCue tried two years ago to make Kane's saloon a lounge place, but Kane would not let him. Kane then tried to "do" Kane, and he had a grudge against him ever since. Once while he was in the saloon, he was always put out. He oftened Kane's head with a paving-stone. Kane started from behind the bar with the expressed intention of putting McCue out of the saloon. Kane was not hurt, but McCue was. Kane picked up one of the rocks weighing six pounds, and started back for the saloon.

John Hooker, a son of the landlord of the tenement in which the saloon is situated, saw him with the stone in his hand. He tried to argue with him. "Now, McCue," said he, "don't go in there."

"I'll do six months to get even with this fellow," replied McCue. Young Hooker tried to restrain him. "See here," said McCue, "if you don't let me go in there, I'll do six months."

McCue then dashed into the place, and before Kane or the half-drun custom-ers present could do anything, he had hurled the paving-stone. It struck Kane squarely in the forehead. He fell like a log, and the stone went rolling over on the floor. McCue then fled. It was only when he was making his way to his father's house.

Kane was taken to Roosevelt Hospital, where his condition is improving, but it is said to be critical.

M'NALLY NOT A FREEMAN.

He is a Member of the Insurance Patrol, Which is Illegal.

The arrest of Thomas McNally, of the Insurance Patrol, on Sunday, charged with stealing a robe from a burned-out store on Canal street, where he had been placed on guard, and his honorable discharge in the Police Court later, caused the fire officials to make a statement as to the difference between a fireman and a member of the Insurance Patrol. McNally was described as a fireman and a member of the Insurance Patrol. He was a member of the Insurance Patrol, which is illegal.

The patrol, said Chief Clerk William P. Allen, of the Fire Department, is a combination of firemen and insurance men, and is a violation of the law. The patrol is a combination of firemen and insurance men, and is a violation of the law.

FOR ST. ANTHONY'S SHRINE. Pilgrims from This Vicinity Start for Butler, N.J.

A large number of pilgrims from this city and Brooklyn left for Butler, N.J., this morning to visit the shrine of St. Anthony of Padua. It is the 50th anniversary of the birth of that saint. For each of the saint's anniversaries a large number of pilgrims visit the shrine. The shrine is a small building, and is located on a small hill in Butler, N.J.

FIVE ACCUSED OF MURDER.

Kansas Men Charged with Killing a Rancher Four Years Ago.

SEDAN, Kan., Aug. 22.—After a lapse of four years the alleged murderers of Johnnie Fraser, a prominent cattle-raiser in this county, have been captured. The suspected men are all prominent farmers or business men. Their names are Theodore F. Cox, Marco McCreary, William Lycker, J. R. and Elmer Cox, Theodore Cox is a blacksmith, of Howard, Kan.; McCreary is a druggist in the same town; John Cox, a brother of Theodore, is a hardware merchant at Moline, Kan.; Elmer, another brother, Lycker, is a blacksmith at Clinton; while Cox is now working in a straw-bale factory at Muncie, Ind.

The crime which the five men are charged with was the most cold-blooded ever committed in Kansas. In 1890 Gibson was found dead in a hotel at Moline. In June Fraser was killed in an extensive cattle business in that county. They imported 1,400 head of Texas steers, to which neighboring ranchers objected, fearing they would spread Texas fever. Gibson and Fraser refused to let the cattle be taken to the county, and in consequence were threatened with death.

There was no need to the threats, but in May, 1890, Gibson was found dead in a hotel at Moline. In June Fraser was killed in an extensive cattle business in that county. They imported 1,400 head of Texas steers, to which neighboring ranchers objected, fearing they would spread Texas fever. Gibson and Fraser refused to let the cattle be taken to the county, and in consequence were threatened with death.

McCue has been a leading spirit of "The Talent." The police say he is a leader of the gang, but he is not a member of it. He is a hardworking, law-abiding man, except at odd jobs. His father, an honest, hardworking laborer, has been forced to put him out of the house many times.

McCue tried two years ago to make Kane's saloon a lounge place, but Kane would not let him. Kane then tried to "do" Kane, and he had a grudge against him ever since. Once while he was in the saloon, he was always put out. He oftened Kane's head with a paving-stone. Kane started from behind the bar with the expressed intention of putting McCue out of the saloon.

McCue is a member of a gang of roughs called "The Talent," who make their headquarters in West Fifty-first street, and who are accused of many robberies and petty crimes.

McCue has been a leading spirit of "The Talent." The police say he is a leader of the gang, but he is not a member of it. He is a hardworking, law-abiding man, except at odd jobs. His father, an honest, hardworking laborer, has been forced to put him out of the house many times.

McCue tried two years ago to make Kane's saloon a lounge place, but Kane would not let him. Kane then tried to "do" Kane, and he had a grudge against him ever since. Once while he was in the saloon, he was always put out. He oftened Kane's head with a paving-stone. Kane started from behind the bar with the expressed intention of putting McCue out of the saloon.

McCue is a member of a gang of roughs called "The Talent," who make their headquarters in West Fifty-first street, and who are accused of many robberies and petty crimes.

McCue has been a leading spirit of "The Talent." The police say he is a leader of the gang, but he is not a member of it. He is a hardworking, law-abiding man, except at odd jobs. His father, an honest, hardworking laborer, has been forced to put him out of the house many times.

McCue tried two years ago to make Kane's saloon a lounge place, but Kane would not let him. Kane then tried to "do" Kane, and he had a grudge against him ever since. Once while he was in the saloon, he was always put out. He oftened Kane's head with a paving-stone. Kane started from behind the bar with the expressed intention of putting McCue out of the saloon.

McCue is a member of a gang of roughs called "The Talent," who make their headquarters in West Fifty-first street, and who are accused of many robberies and petty crimes.

McCue has been a leading spirit of "The Talent." The police say he is a leader of the gang, but he is not a member of it. He is a hardworking, law-abiding man, except at odd jobs. His father, an honest, hardworking laborer, has been forced to put him out of the house many times.

McCue tried two years ago to make Kane's saloon a lounge place, but Kane would not let him. Kane then tried to "do" Kane, and he had a grudge against him ever since. Once while he was in the saloon, he was always put out. He oftened Kane's head with a paving-stone. Kane started from behind the bar with the expressed intention of putting McCue out of the saloon.

THE COPELAND FREE TREATMENT.

Must Not Be Confounded With the Fakes It Has Exposed and Was Designed to Expose.

It Is Free in Every Sense of the Word—No Obligation to Pay in the Future, No Dunning or Garnisheeing of Wages or Traps for the Unwary.

The Copeland Free Treatment will not be confused, by those familiar with its history, with the fakes which it has exposed and was designed to expose. It has nothing in common with the fakes which it is the genius of which they are the poorly executed counterfeit. It is free, as it is represented, there is no obligation to pay in the future, no dunning or garnisheeing of wages or traps for the unwary.

During the month of August ALL TREATMENT FREE; NO CHARGE WHATSOEVER FOR PROFESSIONAL SERVICES. PATIENTS ARE REQUESTED TO PAY NOTHING EXCEPT THE ACTUAL COST OF MEDICINES, OLD AND NEW.

DELUGED WITH TEST MONY.

The Overwhelming Evidence of Permanence.

Corrosion Increases Each Week.

Correct Diagnosis.

Every Mail Tells of Cures.

Shot by His Brother.

Farmer Myrie Murdered.

Canadian Found Dead in a Cart in His Barnyard.

Montreal, Quebec, Aug. 22.—The murder of a farmer named Myrie, of St. Barbe, Huntingdon County, has caused great excitement in that district. Myrie started Monday night for Dundee, where he was to see a doctor. He was found dead in a cart in his barnyard. He was shot by his brother.

Indebted in a Double Sense.

Had Time to Get Shaved.

Hubby (shouting upstairs)—Are you nearly ready, Harry?

THE PUBLIC WILL FIND

Hardwood Bedstead.

Large Reductions.

McCLAIN, SIMPSON & CO.,

Manhattan Beach.

Second Week.

The Unrivalled Band.

Popular Artists.

Lineoff Russian Choir.

Grand International Melange.

THE LIFE GUARD.

THE DERBY MASCO.

THE HARLEM RIVER PARK.

THE ATLANTIC GARDEN.

THE ELDERADO.

THE PROCTOR'S.

Brooklyn Amusements.

Boards Wanted.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.

Wanted, a board of directors.